

Washington Visitors To Bring Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The increased traffic bearing Bicentennial visitors may aggravate the capital's air pollution problems and lead to air alerts here this summer, the nation's top environmental official warns.

"We're going to have a real problem, I think, this summer in terms of air pollution in the nation's capital," Environmental Protection Agency Administrator Russell E. Train predicted Sunday.

"I would expect some bad air alert situations," Train said on CBS' "Face the Nation."

But Train said he doubted a ban would be placed on tourists' driving to the capital by car. If an alert was called, federal workers would be asked not to drive into the city, he said.

Some 17 million tourists are expected here during the Bicentennial, which is 20 per cent more than usual. Train said that the increased number of cars, combined with high summer temperatures and stagnant air, "could create a hazardous problem."

The capital experienced four air pollution alerts last summer, including a record high reading of 180 in August on its air quality index. A reading of 100 is considered hazardous, and 250 is dangerous to health.

There were seven air alerts in the summer of 1973.

Like most of the East Coast, the capital sweltered in an unseasonable heat wave Sunday. The temperature hit a recordbreaking 95 degrees, and at one monitoring station the air quality index reached 100. Eight other stations in the Washington area had lower air quality readings.

Commuters were asked not to drive to work during last summer's smog, but they were not forced to leave their cars home.

"One thing we could do in case of an emergency alert is tell the government workers not to drive to work that day. If they want to walk or take a bus or something of that sort, that's something else," Train said.

But it is not practical to apply an auto ban to tourists "because you don't know in advance" how many will be driving into Washington, he observed.

Hijacker Slain In Denver

DENVER (AP) — A gunman who held two hostages on a private airplane for seven hours was shot and killed by FBI agents early today as he boarded a jet he thought was to fly him to Mexico, an FBI spokesman said.

Ted Rosack, special agent in charge of the Denver FBI office, said Roger Lyle Lentz, 31, was killed shortly after midnight, ending an episode that began in Grand Island, Neb., and included two separate flights over Colorado aboard the commandeered private plane.

Neither hostage — pilot Robert Blair and mechanic Harlan Hiller, both of Grand Island — was hurt during the seven hours they spent in the Piper Navaho with the gunman or in the gunfire aboard the commercial jet, Rosack said.

"The subject came up the ramp with his hostages, ducked into the galley, and when agents aboard the plane properly identified him, was shot," Rosack said. "One of the agents said he believed the subject fired one shot, but we're still investigating that."

The shooting was aboard a Convair 990, a four-engine jet owned by Ports of Call Travel Club, a local airline. It was the second jet prepared for Lentz, who earlier rejected a DC8 trainer owned by United Airlines for the flight he demanded to Mexico.

Rosack said Lentz, who faced charges at home including vehicular homicide and larceny, was involved in a gunfight earlier Sunday with authorities in Grand Island.

He went to the Grand Island airport, carried a .22-caliber revolver and a .410 shotgun aboard the Navaho and ordered Blair to take off, Rosack said.

He said Hiller was in the airplane because he had just finished servicing it for flight.

After arriving at Denver's Stapleton International Airport, the plane sat on a runway while FBI agents tried to talk Lentz into surrendering, Rosack said. He demanded a Boeing 747, then a Boeing 737, then any type of commercial aircraft to fly him to Mexico, Rosack said.

The FBI agent said the plane took on fuel after 3½ hours on the ground, then inexplicably took off, circled the airport for about a half-hour and landed. It was refueled and took off again.

During the second flight, Blair got clearance to land at Casper, Wyo.,

about 250 miles north of Denver, but just north of Greeley, Colo., 50 miles north of Denver, the plane turned back and returned to Stapleton.

Rosack said it was uncertain why Lentz took over the plane in Nebraska, but the FBI agent said he assumed the gunman wanted to leave the country to escape prosecution on the Nebraska charges.

Reporters were not allowed to talk with the pilot and mechanic. They were interviewed into the morning by FBI agents.

Rosack said both hostages were "in close proximity" to Lentz when he was shot. The agent said he couldn't say whether Lentz was challenged by the agents aboard the plane before the shooting began.

The gunman fired five confirmed shots during the episode, Rosack said.

Jon Berlin Receives $1,000 Scholarship

Jon K. Berlin, a senior at Circleville High School, is the recipient of a $1000 scholarship to the University of Dallas. The scholarship, which is renewable for four years on condition of high academic achievement, is awarded through the Twentieth Annual Competitive Scholarship Program. Berlin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Berlin, 15 Cambridge Place, Knollwood Village.

Recipients of scholarships through the program are selected after taking an objective and essay examination administered throughout the nation by high school counselors. The recommendations of counselors, SAT and ACT scores and high school grades are also considered in selecting the scholarship recipients.

The University of Dallas, which ranks in the top seven per cent of all colleges and universities in the nation, is situated on a 1,000-acre campus just north of Texas Stadium. The university includes the Constantin College of Liberal Arts for undergraduate students and the Braniff Graduate School, which encompasses the Graduate School of Management, the Institute of Philosophic Studies and the International Center.

Founded in 1955 under the auspices of the Diocese of Dallas-Fort Worth, UD prides itself in the one-to-13 faculty student ratio, which permits extensive consultation and direction. More than 70 per cent of the full-time faculty hold earned doctorates and one-third of all professors speak at least five languages. The faculty counts among its members such distinguished names as novelist Caroline Gordon, philosopher Frederick Wilhelmsen, literary critic Louise S. Cowan and economist William H. Hutt.

Graduates of the university are represented in the permanent collections of the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts and the Whitney Museum of New York. An average of 90 per cent of the university's pre-med students are accepted into medical schools.

Revival Of Draft Machinery Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government commission says the United States could cut $3 billion to $4 billion annually from its defense budget by overhauling procedures for military pay, promotion, retirement and other personnel costs.

The Defense Manpower Commission proposed scrapping the current retirement system, which allows all members of the armed services to retire at half-pay after 20 years. It suggested a 30-year minimum, except for men serving in combat units, who would still be eligible to retire after 20 years.

The seven-member citizens' commission, which was appointed by Congress, spent two years and $2.4 million assaying America's military manpower needs.

North Dakota Flood Danger Not Yet Over

MINOT, N.D. (AP) — Flooding danger is far from over, city officials warned Minot residents today, even though the level of the Souris River has begun dropping slowly.

The 12,000 persons evacuated from their homes last week are being told it may be two weeks before they can return.

The river, which crested Sunday at seven feet above flood stage, is expected to continue with peak flows of 10,000 cubic feet per second for several days and to remain above normal until mid-May. The river was dropping at an average of .01 inches every two hours, the National Weather Service said.

The crest was one foot lower than had been feared. Emergency dikes as high as 25 feet were credited with helping prevent the fifth flood in seven years in low-lying sections of the city.

As workers continued to sandbag dikes to prevent erosion and seepage, officials expressed concern that residents would believe the danger was past and the supply of volunteer dikediggers, sandbaggers and security patrols would dwindle.

"People get complacent," said city engineer Burt Peckham. "That's what bothers us."

"We're a long way from the end of the critical part of this. If we get a foot or two of drop, then we can breathe."

City Manager John Arnold said, "The prognosis is still danger for at least another week. The longer the water is high, the more likely we are to have street and yard boils."

The boils indicate dangerous levels of underground water pressure which could burst above ground level and flood portions of the city.

Quake Hits In Oklahoma

LEONARD, Okla. (AP) — An earthquake that registered 3.9 on the Richter scale was felt in parts of western Oklahoma and eastern Texas late Sunday, but there were no reports of damage or injury.

The University of Oklahoma's Earth Sciences Center in Leonard said the quake, described as the strongest in Oklahoma since May 1969, was centered at the tiny, unincorporated community of Durham, about 135 miles west of Oklahoma City.

A spokesman for the center said the earthquake struck at 10:43 p.m. and lasted about 10 seconds.

Jim Lawson, geophysicist at the center, said the quake "possibly was strong enough to have cracked foundations in the Durham area."

He said it came on the heels of a quake measuring 3.6 on the Richter which hit the same area on Friday but did no damage.

Assembly Bills Face Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bills that haven't cleared at least one chamber probably will get lost in the shuffle as the legislature begins on Tuesday a two-week drive to bring the current session to a close.

Floor sessions and committee activity both will reflect what has become a traditional policy giving emphasis to bills near passage in the closing days. There probably will be some exceptions, as members with long stalled measures begin "horse trading" among themselves.

On Tuesday, the House returns from a week-long Easter break to consider Senate amendments to five measures. They will go to the governor if the amendments are approved. The lower chamber votes the same day on four bills that originated in the Senate.

Similarly, senators return for a flood session that calls for votes on five House measures. Committee sessions follow the same pattern, with House panels looking at a total of 25 Senate bills Tuesday through Thursday compared to 13 of their own. Of 55 measures to be heard in the Senate, 40 originated in the House.

Three major bills are among those in the House awaiting action on Senate amendments. One requires statewide voter registration in Ohio (only 64 of the 88 counties now require registration), and the other allows sale of liquor on election day. The latter would not apply to the June 8 primary, however.

House sponsors predict approval of Senate amendments to a third bill prohibiting natural gas utilities from passing along costs of emergency supplies for industry to residential customers. The measure assertedly would delete from most residential bills a $1 surcharge applied last winter with the purchase of emergency supplies for industry.

Floor votes are scheduled Tuesday in the House that would virtually complete passage of other Senate measures that provide identification cards for nondriving senior and handicapped citizens, and to permit counties to license electrical, heating, and air conditioning contractors.

A House bill of major importance to consumers is due for a Senate floor vote Tuesday.

It repeals the long embattled holder in due course doctrine, which allows installment sellers to divest themselves of installment contracts, usually selling them to banks or finance companies, and as a result escape responsibility from a faulty merchandise of shabby services.

The bill permits the purchaser to withhold payments in such situations.

Some other big issues remain at committee stage after being approved by one chamber or the other or in one instance both houses.

A Senate-House conference committee meets for a second time Tuesday to try to resolve differences in a highly publicized bill that establishes a new utility rate making formula. That panel appeared in serious deadlock at its first session last week.

On Thursday, a Senate Ways and Means subcommittee tries again after several meetings to complete work on amendments to another priority bill. It is designed to protect Ohio homeowners from future property tax increases that result from inflation.

In other business, the House Judiciary Committee may not try to finish work this week on a Senate measure that permits bingo games to be sponsored by charitable, tax exempt organizations. Chairman Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, said he disliked the amendments tacked on to the measure by his committee last week and added that he may sit on the measure for a while.

Protests Cooled Down

BETHEL, Occupied Jordan (AP) — Some 40,000 militant Israelis and 10,000 Arabs held rival demonstrations a few miles apart in the occupied West Bank Sunday, but strong security forces kept the two crowds separated.

The Israelis began a two-day walk through the farmland of Judea, demanding the annexation of the territory seized from Jordan in the 1967 war. The Arabs turned a double funeral into a noisy demonstration against the establishment of Israeli settlements in the West Bank.

The two-day Israeli march was organized by the rightwing Gush Emunim, or Loyalist Bloc, which claims the West Bank is part of the land promised to the Jews by God.

The movement's demand for annexation of the West Bank has split Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's cabinet and could endanger his coalition.

The march was an open challenge to Rabin's policy of using the West Bank as bait for a peace settlement with Jordan. However, the group was given permission to stage the demonstration after promising to stay out of Arab villages along the 24-mile route and to leave the area after reaching Jericho, the site of Joshua's victory.

The marchers sang Hebrew songs as they walked arm in arm through a chill rain. Leaders ordered the marchers "to avoid being dragged into verbal showdowns and fistfights with the Arab populace" and not to walk on the Arabs' crops.

Brighter Economic Outlook Reported In Latest Figures

WASHINGTON (AP) — The volume of the nation's total economic output jumped 2.5 per cent during the three months ending in March and moved to within a whisker of its prerecession peak, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said the volume of the nation's Gross National Product (GNP) climbed at an annual rate of 7.5 per cent for the quarter, compared to a 5 per cent growth rate during the previous quarter.

The jump pushed the dollar value of the GNP to an annual rate of $1.616 trillion — 19.4 per cent ahead of peak output during the final quarter of 1973. But inflation cut the quarter's volume of goods and services to two-tenths of a per cent below the 1973 peak.

The Gross National Product represents the total output of goods and services in the nation's economy and is the broadest gauge of the nation's economic performance.

The quarter's increase is within the range expected by Commerce Secretary Elliot L. Richardson and others, but at the high end of the range. The figures for the quarter are preliminary and subject to revision.

Richardson had said he expected the rate of growth for the first three months of the year to be higher than for the previous three months.

But Richardson noted in an article in "Commerce America," his department's monthly magazine, that the GNP, after adjustment for inflation, would have to grow by 8.5 per cent to retain the prerecession peak.

"It is unlikely that output increased that rapidly in the first quarter, and therefore it will be the second quarter before the previous peak is retained and surpassed," Richardson predicted.

Richardson said the latest GNP figures should show a net increase in business inventories this time and "as final sales continue to rise, inventory accumulation should gain momentum during the remainder of the year."

Richardson said the new GNP figures and other economic indicators coming out of the government should prompt a favorable revision of the administration's initial economic expectations this year.

The latest 7.5 per cent unemployment rate, for example, is already below the 7.7 per cent initially expected to be the average unemployment rate for the year.

And there are some signs that business inventories are now about to fuel further economic growth. Business stocks in relation to sales are now at the lowest level in nearly two years. When business depletes its stocks without replenishing them, production capacity is idled and workers are thrown out of work. When stocks are accumulating, workers are busy supplying inventory goods as well as those sold directly.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices pushed higher in active trading early today as investors returned from a long Easter weekend.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up a fraction at the opening and New York Stock Exchange issues advancing in price led those declining by about 2-1.

At the start of trading, the Commerce Department announced in Washington that the nation's gross national product grew 7.5 per cent in the first quarter, after adjusting for inflation.

It was the fourth straight quarterly rise for the economic indicator.

The Commerce Department also reported that the GNP price deflator, a broad gauge of inflation, rose only 3.7 per cent in the first quarter, compared with a 6.8 per cent jump in the fourth quarter of 1975.

Early prices today included American Telephone & Telegraph, off 1/4 at 55 1/4; General Motors, down 1/4 to 70 3/4; and Exxon Corp., up 1/4 at 92 1/4.

On Thursday, before the market closed for an extended Easter weekend, the Dow Jones industrial average rose 5.83 to 980.48, putting its gain for the week at 12.20 points.

Neck Pains Break Seen

BOSTON (AP) — Injured neck disks, the most common cause of recurring head, neck and shoulder pain, can be treated three times as successfully with a new diagnostic method, says the doctor who discovered it.

Of 71 patients diagnosed with the new method, 93 per cent were cured with surgery. The usual success rate is 33 per cent.

"This is the most satisfying surgery I have ever done," said Dr. David A. Roth, who discovered the method. "I often go into the recovery room after an operation and the patient is already saying he doesn't feel any pain."

The ailment, sometimes called "painful disk syndrome," occurs when a neck disk is injured in a usually minor accident.

Arguments Heard On Trial Coverage

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We do not have spacious profits with which to defend ourselves and our principles, all the way to the Supreme Court, each and every time we feel them to be under attack.... But I am confident that the court will listen to us because we represent the most defenseless among the petitioners."

With these words, H. Brandt Ayers, editor and publisher of the Anniston, Ala., Star, pleaded the cause of the nation's small daily newspapers in a free press-fair trial case which the high court hears arguments on today.

Ayers' letter is quoted in a brief submitted to the court on behalf of news organizations ranging from the Anniston Star, which has a circulation of 28,000, to the major television networks.

The case, which arose out of a Nebraska mass murder, involves conflicting views about the effect of news coverage on the impartiality of potential jurors in criminal cases and the rights of defendants.

It is the first time the court has held a full-scale hearing on the relationship between the free press guarantee of the First Amendment to the Constitution and the fair trial guarantee of the Sixth Amendment.

A decision is expected by June.

Nostalgia On Side Of Hubert Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has nostalgia on his side in his "noncandidacy" for the Democratic presidential nomination, pollster Louis Harris contends.

"There is a great kind of nostalgia about Hubert Humphrey. It is the best way you can explain his candidacy," Harris said on ABC's "Issues and Answers" program Sunday.

"He has become kind of the elder statesman in the Democratic party," said Harris, who added that Humphrey's image fit "The New Deal pork chop, pork barrel approach to politics."

The Minnesota senator is not running in the primaries, but he has said he would accept a draft at the Democratic convention in July.

Easter Sunday found noncandidates and candidates alike keeping a low profile. Most spent the day at home with their families.

Jimmy Carter, the leader in the early Democratic primaries, attended church in his hometown of Plains, Ga., then opened a new campaign headquarters there.

Carter promised a victory in the April 27 Pennsylvania primary, telling 400 followers, "I don't intend to lose."

"We've got all the political big shots against us. But this is nothing new," Carter has stops in Atlanta, Alexandria, La., and New Orleans today before flying to Houston for an overnight stay.

Rivals Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington and Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona spent Easter with their families in the Washington area. Udall later flew to Phoenix, where he planned several appearances today.

Sen. Frank Church, the latest entrant in the Democratic race, spent Sunday at his Boise home and was in Montana today prior to stumping through Nebraska.

On the Republican front, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan spent Easter in Los Angeles and had no campaign activities planned today. He hits the trail again Tuesday with a trip to Alabama and Georgia.

President Ford relaxed at Camp David over the weekend and planned to stay in the capital until Thursday, when he starts a two-day campaign swing through Indiana and Georgia, which both have May 4 primaries.

His wife, Betty, was scheduled to leave today for four days of political appearances in Texas, which also has a May 1 primary. To help get her political message across, Mrs. Ford was taking along a portable citizens band car radio — a gift from daughter Susan.

Former Texas Gov. John Connally, who has resisted overtures to endorse either Reagan or Ford, was to be honored at a GOP fund-raising dinner in Austin tonight.

Youth Shot While Fishing

Thirteen-year-old Mark Riffle, 2711 N. Court St., was treated at Berger Hospital's emergency room Friday night after he was shot in the face with a pellet gun.

The pellet was imbedded about two inches into his cheek, according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal, who investigated the incident.

The incident occurred while Riffle and his brother Joe were fishing in Dry Run Creek, which is located behind the North Drive-In Theater along N & W Railroad tracks. He was apparently shot at a distance of about 40 to 50 feet.

Mark Coates, 12, implicated in the incident, was also injured, apparently in a fight.

Flywheel Propulsion

Inventors at work on alternate energy sources are following their imaginations into some exotic fields. Among the latest entries is the flywheel car, which its promoters claim will operate without fuel and thus be pollution-free.

Powered by nothing more than the momentum of flywheels set in motion by electric motors, the vehicle is designed for short-range driving with a top speed of 100 mph. The brainchild of Lear Motors Corp. and U.S. Flywheels Inc., two southern California firms, the vehicle is being promoted as the ideal commuter car for persons living within a 25-mile radius of their work who travel at freeway speeds.

Work on the project has started under a $4.5 million government contract. A working model is expected to be ready within two years. But as an official of one of the firms involved said, "The idea has excellent promise, but it remains to be demonstrated if it can work."

90 Proof Guarantee

By JIM BISHOP

The case should have become a landmark decision. The fact that it didn't shows that the press was on its heels rather than its toes. The story opens in a bungalow on the south shore of Long Island. Andreotta and Sidney Schultz bought it.

Theirs was a marriage made in a distillery. Neither would begin drinking until sundown, and both often sat in a west window all afternoon waiting for the pale glint of an evening star.

Andreotta was a coupon clipper. She inherited bonds. She was a 95-pound stick, with a big-eyed face and the hair of a person who has just stuck her finger in an electric socket.

Sidney was a concert organist. He was tall, immaculate, a fop who enjoyed slumming in village bars. His wife Andy indulged Sid by installing a large organ in the small bungalow. The thunder of Brahms at 4 a.m. scared the hell out of sea birds and jittery crabs.

Behind the little house was a stream which ran to Fire Island inlet. The Schultzes moored a 30-foot lapstrake boat to their back porch. It was called "One For The Road," although Sid seemed unable to run it up the highway.

When a politician died, Sid volunteered to play the church organ at the services. The casket arrived 28 minutes late. Mr. Schultz was a marvel of improvisation. He blended a funeral march with one hand, while playing "Get Me to the Church on Time" with the other.

And yet, even though Andy and Sid were intoxicated with each other, there were moments when they disagreed. I was present at one of their pre-dawn disputes when Andy said she was tired of supporting Sid. The husband agreed to leave, asking if he could have custody of the boat.

"Go," she shouted. "Take the damn boat with you." Sid said he would need a week's supplies. I watched him load two cases of booze and a big cardboard carton of ice cubes. This, I presumed, was about all the sustenance he would need.

He took his time. The ice cubes softened the cardboard. As he cast off, the cubes slid all over the deck. Mr. Schultz was still crying, "Farewell forever," when one or both of his feet hit the cubes. No gymnast made so many weird flying turns without falling overboard.

Sid was back by sundown. He said he had been unable to find the Atlantic Ocean although he was sure it was still where he had left it. He bent the knee of contrition to Andreotta. She wept 90 proof tears and the Schultzes began a fresh honeymoon.

For her, he played Chopin for two hours. She had taken off in her little MG a half-hour before Schultz realized he was alone. He placed a little rubber duck in his trouser pocket and drove away in an over-age roadster.

This is where the thick plottens. At 6 a.m. a policeman found Mrs. Schultz parked at a filling station. No one could surmise how long she had slept there.

The cop opened the door on the driver's side and Andreotta fell out. She and the pavement were stoned. The policeman arrested her for drunken driving. Within an hour, Mr. Schultz was at the police station demanding the release of his wife. Behind the desk, a police lieutenant couldn't comprehend a word he said. It sounded like a glissando on ice.

"Who are you?" the lieutenant demanded. Sid responded by squeezing the rubber duck in his pocket. It said, "Quack, quack." "What's that?" the officer said with fury. "Quack, quack."

Sidney went into a cell with his wife on a charge of resisting an officer. They bailed themselves out in time for

Steel Production Boost Being Pushed

CLEVELAND (AP) — Salesmen are being assigned to mill operations at a U.S. Steel Corp. plant here in an effort to improve the firm's steel production, Industry Week says.

U.S. Steel calls the program cross-fertilization and under it production and commercial managers swap jobs. At the company's Cuyahoga plant at the Lorain-Cuyahoga Works here, four salesmen are assigned to work in mill operations.

The salesmen work directly with production managers on price, quality, mill scheduling and satisfying customers, the trade weekly says.

The Cuyahoga plant also has had new rod mill equipment installed and U.S. Steel has put about $12.5 million into modernizing the cold-rolled strip operation.

Cross-fertilization "is about the best thing that ever happened" although "a lot of people didn't think it would work," said Ed Carey, marketing manager of rod, wire and bar products at Eastern Steel Division.

The publication says that at least one major steelmaker and its largest customer is using a "contractual agreement." Under this agreement, the buyer guarantees to take a minimum amount of tonnage in a specified period and the producer guarantees a maximum that will be available in case the buyer needs more.

Industry Week says these approaches are all part of an industry drive to improve their market shares and profit margins. Steel makers are still predicting that domestic shipments this year will be about 95 million tons. Shipments last year were 80 million tons and the last two years they were 109.5 million and 111.4 million tons.

For the week ending April 10, raw steel production was 2,655,000 tons and the magazine estimates the same amount will be produced for the week ending April 17.

The commission said it will consider the recommendations of Diane I. Fellman, administrative law judge, after the utility and the City of Cleveland respond to the judge's report.

According to the commission, the judge found that the utility "has sought to minimize any real or anticipated effects" that the 345-kilovolt power line might create.

Cleveland officials contended that the transmission line would require a 400-foot right-of-way within the city for safety reasons.

The judge recommended that the utility be required to notify the commission and the state historical society if it finds archeological sites or materials during construction of the transmission line.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I just can't believe it, but we were told that our 10-year-old daughter has a stomach ulcer. No one we know has ever heard of such a thing. Could the doctor be wrong?

Mrs. G.R.E., N.J.

Dear Mrs. E.:
The fact that your friends are unaware that stomach ulcers do occur in children should not undermine your faith in your doctor's diagnosis.

Stomach and duodenal ulcers, once thought to be the private property of adults, are being seen more frequently in young children and adolescents.

Many children with "belly cramps" are now being studied more actively to find the exact cause. There has been, for a long time, a tendency to minimize these complaints, and even consider them to be more fanciful than real.

Children, like adults, are affected by the relationship between physical and emotional problems. It is recognized that ulcers in children may be related to emotional stress and the pressures of school or family life.

When the possibility of an ulcer in a child occurs to the doctor he uses the same methods of study as he does with adults. X-rays with barium can quickly reveal the presence of an ulcer.

It is then that intensive attention to the physical problem, coupled with psychological support, becomes essential.

Is it possible for a cold to last for months? I seem to have the symptoms and just can't get rid of them.

Miss E.E.W., Pa.

Dear Miss W.:
It is highly improbable that any infection would stay for such a long time. Infections are either cured or progress and show more complicated evidence of disease.

The chances are great that the symptoms that you complain of are probably allergic in origin, rather than infectious.

The possibility of a chronic infection of the sinuses must be considered. With X-rays of the sinuses, this possibility can be uncovered.

My mother awoke one day and complained of pain in her leg. Of all things, they found a fracture. How can this happen without an injury or accident?

Miss B.L., Minn.

Dear Miss L.:
"Spontaneous fractures" can and do occur without injury in people whose bones are brittle and have diminished calcium.

There are a number of conditions, such as "osteoporosis" and "osteomalacia," associated with loss of calcium.

In the elderly, these are some of the conditions that might account for this unusual type of fracture.

Ex-Hughes Suite Tourist Attraction

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — The 20th floor of the Hotel Princess, the last headquarters of Howard Hughes, has become Acapulco's latest tourist attraction.

As soon as it was reopened Friday, dozens of tourists rushed to see the luxurious penthouse where the reclusive billionaire stayed before he died April 5.

A hotel clerk said Hughes' Summa Corp. paid $10,000 daily for the penthouse, but assistant manager Manuel Catalan said each of the eight rooms rented for $250 a day.

Hughes arrived before dawn Feb. 11 with a team of eight men, two of them doctors. His aides said in sworn statements given to police that Hughes came to recover his health in the warm Pacific breezes.

Clarence Waldron, 41, of Sun Valley, Calif., told police that when Dr. Wilbur Thain and Levar Myler, a Hughes' confidant, recommended the trip, Waldron flew to Acapulco to inspect the hotel. He returned to the Bahamas with photographs and movies of the quarters and they were approved by Hughes, he said.

Dr. Victor Montemayor, whose practice includes most of the major hotels in Acapulco, examined Hughes the day he died. Hughes was unconscious when Montemayor entered the room, the doctor said. Montemayor told police Hughes, nearly six feet tall, weighed about 80 pounds.

An attorney general's investigation centers on whether Hughes' aides had forged the magnate's signature on the tourist card he used to enter Mexico. Waldron, accused of signing the card, was jailed for several days, but was cleared and released.

Court documents on the investigation include a police report filed when Hughes' belongings were confiscated and three of his aides, including Waldron, were questioned about the tourist card. The report describes the arrangement of the 20th floor.

Suite 2007 was a storage room, the report said, where police found walkie-talkies and an electric orthopedic bed still in its packing crate. The police said it was reported Hughes always traveled with two orthopedic beds and two electricpowered wheelchairs. The room also contained two blue bicycles.

A large desk was installed in the foyer between the adjoining rooms of 2008 and 2010, which Hughes occupied. Police said 2008 was a laboratory, containing an electrocardiograph, a centrifuge, oxygen tanks, syringes, boxes filled with medicine, sterilized gloves and other medical equipment.

The police said Hughes brought to Mexico — without import papers — photocopies, document shredders and other office equipment.

The police report said two witnesses claimed customs agents were paid $3,000 to allow the equipment to enter without clearing customs.

Montemayor said Hughes suffered intense pain and was not able to control his bladder. He also said he had been told Hughes had been dependent on codeine for some time.

Sen. Hartke On Junket To Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Vance Hartke traveled to three continents along with two Senate committee aides on a trip he said was to discuss veterans benefits with African leaders. The cost to American taxpayers ran to $14,197.

Government records disclosed details of the recent claim by Hartke's May 4 primary Senate election opponent, Rep. Phil Hayes, that Hartke took a round-the-world trip at taxpayer's expense in 1974.

Hartke, D-Ind., told Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in a letter before the trip that the journey was to discuss with African leaders the creation of veterans benefits for members of their armed forces.

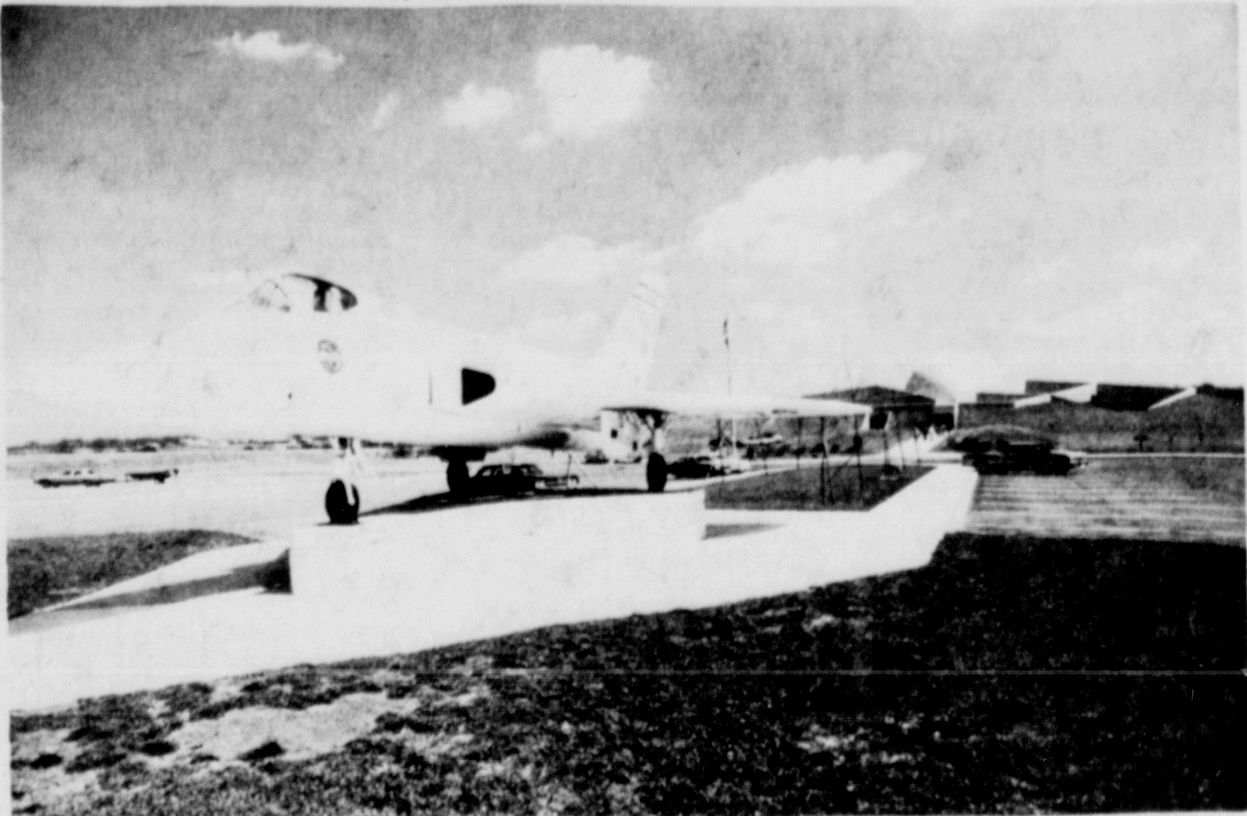

There was no explanation for the Asian leg of the trip, or for stops in New Zealand and Germany, all paid for from government expense funds.

Only the Ivory Coast, with a military force of about 4,500 men, is listed on the official expense voucher that Hartke and two Veteran's Affairs Committee aides filed with the Secretary of the Senate in 1975.

Hartke, a two-term senator who is chairman of the Senate Veteran's Affairs panel, could not be reached for comment. Committee aides would not talk about the trip and referred all inquiries to Hartke aide Rosemary Rorick, who also was unavailable for comment.

SPACE MUSEUM — The F5D Skylancer, which Neil Armstrong once piloted for NASA, is permanently exhibited near the museum parking lot.

Neil Armstrong Museum Is A 'Look Into The Future'

For Ohio vacationers looking toward America's future, rather than her past during this Bicentennial year, the Neil Armstrong Air and Space Museum in Wapakoneta, promises an odyssey that will transport them from earth into space.

After leaving their cars in the newly expanded parking lot, visitors pass the F5D SKYLANCER that Armstrong once piloted for NASA, and enter the modern, geometric-styled museum through a tunnel entrance, designed to resemble an airport runway. Inside, exhibits and displays present Ohio's significant role in the development of flight, from the Wright Brothers' famous experiment at Kitty Hawk to Armstrong's first step on the moon.

The aviation mall provides the most appropriate starting place for this journey through the history of flight. Here, the struggles and achievements of Ohio's early pioneer aviators and their early concepts of flight are brought to life through the use of slides, film and an impressive collection of historic aircraft.

Near the entrance of the room, a balloonist's wicker basket recalls man's earliest successful attempt at flight. Originated by a French physician, who made his first ascension in a large, paper balloon filled with heated air, the sport didn't really become popular until several years later, when Henry Cavendish discovered hydrogen gas, initiating the "golden age" of ballooning. Overhead, an airframe from the dirigible TOLEDO II, the first powered aircraft to fly over New York City, is suspended from the ceiling, while, below, the world's earliest flying boat, the Wright Brothers' "Model G," has been displayed with some outside panels removed to show interior detail. A nearby slide show reviews the broad scope of this "lighter-than-air-flight," featuring Washington Harrison Donaldson's spectacular aerial wedding, performed in a decorated balloon over Cincinnati's Lincoln Park.

The recent addition of the McKlintock model aircraft display, gives visitors an historic look at the civilian and military planes that played an important part in America's past, including a miniature of the Sopwith Camel, in which Captain Roy Brown shot down the notorious Manfred von Richthofen in 1918. An Aeronica Champion, in which Armstrong first learned to fly, hangs dramatically from the high ceiling to a specially designed pit, below, along with the bicycle he used as his transportation to the Wapakoneta airport. And to round out the story of the history of flight, there is a short film that shows the successes and often amusing failures of man's first attempts at air transportation.

Yesterday dissolves into the future, as visitors ascend a multi-level ramp to the space gallery above. One of the biggest attractions, here, is the Gemini VIII spacecraft, in which Neil Armstrong and David Scott performed the first rendezvous and docking mission in space. A television screen, located above the craft, captures on video tape, the excitement and anticipation of the actual mission, which had to be aborted early because the spacecraft began to tumble out of control. Behind the capsule, Armstrong's original Gemini spacesuit and his Apollo 11 back-up moon suit, made up of ultra-fine fibers of pure glass, provide an interesting contrast to earlier aviator's costumes. Nearby, an excellent exhibit on a Jupiter rocket engine and Robert Goddard's theories on the step-rocket are available for review.

The next stop is the sound tunnel, which expands the visitor's journey from a solely visual experience to one in which they can actually participate. Passing through the dimly-lit corridor, the sounds of space surround the "voyagers" as they hear computer noises and mission control communications, similar to the sounds heard by the astronauts during their flights. Emerging in the small video room, monitors review former missions on tape, while a narrated film tells the story of America's space program from project Mercury to the space shuttle.

The journey resumes in the small infinity room, where visitors find themselves standing on a platform surrounded by te solar system, sampling the same sort of weightlessness experienced by astronauts during their space walks. This realistic illusion, created by filtered lights and mirrors, is so convincing that many fear to look over the platform's edge.

After leaving the Infinity room, visitors enter the newest exhibit at the Armstrong Museum. The newly completed Astro-theater program takes viewers on a simulated trip to the moon with the men of Apollo. Eight motion picture and slide projectors have been combined with a planetarium star ball and quadraphonic sounds to recreate a lunar mission on the giant circular dome of the museum.

Located at the Fisher-Wapakoneta exit off of I-75, the building is open from 10 to 6 Monday through Saturday, and from 1 to 6 on Sunday. But, to see the museum in its proper perspective, make the trip in July, when a model rocket launch is held to commemorate the 969 moon landing. And, from now until September, an actual moon rocket from Apollo 17 will be on display at the museum's entrance.

You don't have to be a space enthusiast to enjoy the Neil Armstrong Air and Space Museum. It is a fascinating place to visit for travelers of all ages. The Armstrong Museum is a look into Ohio's past and a vision of her future.

U.S. Corporations Cut Back In Europe

LONDON (AP) — Some American corporations are cutting back operations in Europe because of rising costs, reduced profits and other factors, British business publications report.

The surveys by the weekly Economist and the daily Financial Times emphasize that there is no exodus yet. But they say a trend that began after World War II is being reversed.

The Economist reported that Goodyear Tire, White Motor, Union Carbide, American Motors and Eaton "have sold off investments in Europe or are cutting down on new investment."

Litton Industries recently closed its two typewriter plants in Britain, and Chrysler threatened to shut down its ailing British operation until the Labor government bailed it out.

The Financial Times said that in West Germany, France and Italy, Singer, Westinghouse, W.R. Grace and General Foods "have abandoned or sold a variety of manufacturing and selling operations."

"The change can be exaggerated," said The Economist. "American corporations are not disenchanted with Western Europe, just less enchanted than they were in the 1950s and 1960s."

The Financial Times predicted "not a wholesale withdrawal from Europe but a changing relationship between Americans and European business which is probably healthy." But "the fact that some American companies are putting more emphasis on exports from the United States may make them more formidable competitors, not less," the paper said.

The Economist said 1976 will "perhaps see the beginning of the new epoch in multinationalism: retreating from the ownership of capital abroad in the face of creeping socialism; exporting goods and knowhow instead of managers, businesses and bribes."

A recent U.S. Department of Commerce forecast said total foreign investment by American business may increase 2 per cent to $27.1 billion this year. But it said investment in Europe is expected to drop from $11.1 billion to $10.8 billion, the first decline in decades.

Marie Osmond Hurt In Crash

NEPHI, Utah (AP) — Pop singer Marie Osmond, 16, cut her face and her mother injured her ribs when Marie drove a car into a trailer her father was towing.

Marie was treated and released from Utah Valley Hospital after the collision Saturday night on a highway 40 miles south of the Osmond family home in Provo. Her mother, Olive, was listed in satisfactory condition there on Sunday.

The highway patrol said Marie was driving a 1973 Mercedes when it struck the rear of a rental trailer towed by a van driven by her father, George Osmond. Others in the 11-member family of entertainers were in cars following behind the two vehicles involved in the accident.

Wave Discharge Now Not Allowed

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Kathleen A. Clark said no when the Navy offered to discharge her after she became pregnant 20 months ago. She's changed her mind, but now the Navy is saying no to her application for discharge.

Mrs. Clark said she realized she had been wrong to think she could raise her baby and at the same time continue working as a Wave at the Key West Naval Air Station.

Her commanding officer agreed to her new request for discharge, and her psychiatrist, social worker and pediatrician all added their opinions that leaving the Navy would be a good thing for her.

But the Navy's top brass has turned her down, despite her pleas that she has an infant in need of care, a husband away at school and a job she has grown to hate.

"I don't know what it takes," said the 22-year-old Wave. "I've seen a lot of people get out—pushed out."

Easter Theme Used For Morning Circle

Morning Circle of Calvary United Methodist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. W. C. Shasteen, 1070 Atwater Ave., for brunch and a business meeting. The Easter theme was carried out in refreshments of doughnuts, pecan rolls and fruit juice, coffee and tea, with nuts and candy eggs.

The business session was opened with prayer by Mrs. Dale DeLong. Mrs. Shasteen read an article titled "Why Easter's Date Fluctuates And Easter Foods Fascinate." She asked the question "Why does the date for Easter keep moving around through March and April?" She then said that from the start, Christ's return from the grave was celebrated every Sunday.

Through Biblical accounts of Christ's resurrection are revealed some slight variations, each narrows the women's visit to the empty sepulcher down to very late on the Jewish Sabbath or extremely early the next morning.

In 325 AD, the Council of Nicea took the matter into hand and decreed that Easter would always be celebrated on the Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox (when the sun crosses the plane of earth's equator). This can occur any time between March 22 and April 25.

She said that special foods for Easter are becoming more and more a part of the Festival of Easter. Most prominent is the Easter egg. Some thought the egg to be a symbol of the rock tomb out of which Christ emerged. Many eggs, elaborately decorated, and some with the greeting "Jesus Christ Is Risen" have become collectors items in Russia.

Hot cross buns originated in southern England as early as 1361. Today they are a tradition and found in nearly every bakery in the country.

Other food items found on Easter menus in early days, were pretzels, Shrove Tuesday pancakes with lamb for a meat dish.

Americans, who come from all races, celebrate Easter on the date arranged originally and most agree the customs and traditions serve to give the holy season a deeper meaning. Following the program members voted to give a cash offering for improving the church sanctuary. The Mother-Daughter dinner was discussed and plans made for it to be held on May 11.

Dates to be remembered were announced as the Spring Retreat in Lancaster on May 15 and the School of Missions on July 6-9. The society will purchase two Easter flowers to be later given to shut-ins.

Devotions were taken from the Book of John 2:1-17, the Easter Story. The life history and religious background of Norman Vincent Peale was given by Mrs. Verla Leist. She was assisted in this program by Mrs. Ronald Pontious. The title of a reading was "What I believe."

The next regular meeting will be on June 8 with Mrs. Ronald Ponboas as hostess assisted by Mrs. Margaret Koch. Mrs. W. C. Shasteen will be the program leader.

Busy Bees Club Completes Plans For Future Events

Roundtown Busy Bees Homemakers Extension Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Donald Rose, Route 3.

Helen Kittle presided at the business meeting opened with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America. Plans were completed for the County-wide Homemakers meeting and the club tour. Fourteen members answered roll call with a poem about Spring. The meeting was closed with the poem "Each Spring God Renews His Promise." The remainder of the afternoon was spent in making name tags.

Present were Olive Eitel, Marcelyn Evans, Cressie Hall, Freda Kerns, Helen Kittle, Maggie Mavis, Garnet Ridgeway, Fern Schwarz, Alice Stout, Charlotte Cupp, Mary Walters, Helen Barr and the hostess, Fannie Rose and co-hostess, Mabel Poling.

The next meeting will be replaced with a tour.

Esther Circle Meeting Uses Easter Theme

"Easter" was the theme of the recent meeting of Esther Circle of Community United Methodist Church in the home of Mrs. William Fisher, 542 Garden Parkway. Co-hostess for the meeting attended by 16 members was Mrs. Ray Cundiff.

Devotions were by Mrs. James G. Scott in keeping with the theme for the evening. Roll call was answered with Easter thoughts and poems. "Easter" by Grace Noel Crowell was read by Mrs. Karl Drum. "Easter Affirmation" by Mrs. Herschel Hill and "Resurrection" by Mrs. William Fisher.

Future events discussed were the May Fellowship Dinner to be held 6:30 p.m. on the 5th with dinner served by the men, and a retreat worship service and program May 15 from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at Lancaster Campgrounds. "Rejoice With Spring" by Helen Keller was read to conclude the business session.

The program entitled "To Celebrate Easter" was presented by Mrs. Dick Tootle. The story began with the birth of the Christ Child. She used Mrs. Montford Vorhees and Miss Reba Lee in the panel of Bible readings up to the Resurrection. All members were involved by adding lilies and greenery to the wooden cross fashioned from the Tootle's 1975 Christmas tree. A verse of "The Old Rugged Cross" was sung and prayer by Mrs. Tootle completed the program. A dessert course was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held May 12 in the home of Mrs. E. R. Bennett, 551 N. Pickaway St.

Kings Island Unable To Count Baboons

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)—Officials at Kings Island Amusement Park have discovered to their chagrin that all the baboons they see are not the number of baboons they've got.

"We kept getting different counts. First we'd get 47, then 53, but we just assumed we had the whole troop until we started getting the phone calls," lamented Dan Aylward, the park's advertising manager.

The park discovered Saturday that one of the 50 baboons which had escaped from their compound last week had wandered outside the park, while the other 49 remained in the same area they've occupied since gaining their freedom.

The animals spent the day Sunday, moving back and forth between their old compound and a stand of trees about 100 feet away.

They spent their time playing, lazing in the warm sun and gorging themselves on fruit, much of which had been tranquilized in an attempt to bring them back into the compound.

Park officials said they hoped to have the baboons back in their compound within 24 hours as soon as they finished construction of an electrical fence to keep the baboons in the compound.

Park officials meanwhile were asking local residents to help them find the baboon which got away.

"We think he's trying to make it back to the troop, but that our personnel who are watching the baboons may be preventing him from reaching the others," said Aylward, who said that the first reports of the runaway baboons were received Saturday.

"It's really hard to count baboons because they look alike and they are always moving," he concluded. "You count one and then another will come out to play and you'll count the first one again by accident."

"It would be simple if they would go single file, but that just isn't the way these animals operate."

Arch Moore Trial Opens

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The fifth-floor courtroom in the federal building here will probably be crowded beginning Tuesday for the federal extortion trial of Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr., but there will be no extraordinary security measures.

James McWhorter, clerk of U.S. District Court, said Judges Dennis Knapp and Joseph Young discussed whether to have metal detectors or extra security for the trial, but decided against it.

Knapp is the senior judge for the southern district of West Virginia and Young, from Baltimore, is presiding at the trial because West Virginia's federal judges disqualified themselves.

"Neither of them feel there's anything about the type of person involved in this thing that would make anyone a security risk," McWhorter said.

In the trials last year of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and others for conspiracy to bomb schools during the Kanawha County textbook protest, the court employed extra security personnel and metal detectors similar to those used at airports.

Firemen Get False Alarms

The Circleville Fire Department, after a rash of calls in the past few days, received two false alarm calls Saturday.

At 3:55 p.m., the automatic alarm system at Murphy's Mart went off accidentally.

Later, at 10:15 p.m., a prank caller reported a fire behind Starkey's Market on Margaret Ave. After dispatching to the reported scene of the fire, firemen found nothing unusual.

Engineers Block Land Development

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking a blow to real estate developers who hoped to dredge and fill Florida wetlands to support homesites, the Army Corps of Engineers has blocked the development of 2,039 acres of mangrove swamp land in a decision that could have broad application.

The corps, which has been criticized in the past by environmentalists for insensitivity, moved Friday to stop unnecessary destruction of the nation's wetlands by private developers.

In denying permits for the development of two tracts of the mangrove swamp on Marco Island, the corps left a significant precedent by which to judge pending applications to dredge and fill another 14,000 acres.

It was the largest project ever rejected by the Corps of Engineers.

The corps approved work on one

Marco Island tract, Collier Bay, because dredge-and-fill operations destroyed wetland acreage there before the corps halted development at that site in 1971.

An executive for the firm which is developing Marco Island said he was "outraged."

The corps' chief of engineers, William C. Gribble Jr., said the agency will consider each future application for wetlands development on its own merits, and added: "I would expect developers to study this case carefully and to draw analogies between their own plans and Marco Island."

Deltona Corp., which is developing Marco Island, has already sold 4,000 lots in Barfield Bay and Big Key, the two tracts for which the corps rejected dredging and filling permits. The proposed development was part of a $500-million, 8,000-acre complex on Marco Island, off the Gulf Coast near Naples, Fla.

Deltona reportedly has hired former Republican National Chairman Dean Burch to present its case in Washington.

The Interior Department, the Environmental Protection Agency and the National Marine Fisheries Service had strongly opposed granting the permits.

March Welfare Subsidy Distributed

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office reported today welfare public assistance in the amount of $27,887.32 was distributed to Pickaway County in March.

Total distribution to Ohio's 88 counties was $14,909,620.26 of which $8,647,183.46 went to help the counties cover the general relief and administration costs of their welfare operations and the balance for administering and purchasing family and children services such as day care, family planning and marital counseling programs.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

The Senate last week passed a lobbyist registration and reporting bill tightening Ohio's 63 year old lobbyist regulations.

Current law classifies as a lobbyist anyone who is paid to testify on or otherwise influence legislation in the Ohio General Assembly. Lobbyists and their employers must register with the Secretary of State, and must report all lobbying expenses within 30 days after final adjournment of each session of the legislature. The present penalty for violating these rules is a $200 to $5,000 fine or one to two years in jail.

S.B. 313 substantially tightens reporting requirements for money spent on legislators. Lobbyists and their employers must, every three months, itemize and report lobbying expenses, the name of any legislator on whom over $25 was spent in that quarter, purposes for which expenditures were made, and specific bills which were actively lobbied or monitored.

Under S.B. 313, any time a lobbyist spends money on a lawmaker both must fill out in triplicate and sign a voucher indicating how much was spent, and where, when, and for what purpose the expenditure was made. Copies of these vouchers go into the public record with the Secretary of State. The first violation of S.B. 313 would be a first degree misdemeanor, and subsequent convictions are a third degree felony. Late statements carry a fine of $100 per day, and any lobbyist convicted under the new law would be barred from lobbying for three years.

Exceptions to these provisions include testimony before the legislature on a voluntary non-paid basis; journalists and bona fide news, editorial and advertising statements; and business, labor, civic, professional, fraternal, or charitable organization publications which spend no more than $500 per quarter advocating specific legislative issues.

S.B. 313 now goes to the House for consideration, where many feel it will die in the maze of committee hearings.

The Senate also approved H.B. 56, which establishes state-wide voter registration and extends from 2 to 4 years the time in which a person must vote to remain registered.

There are presently 22 counties in Ohio which do not have voter registration and four counties in which there is registration in part of the county. H.B. 56 requires these counties to conduct a series of voter registration drives and have registration procedures implemented by November 8, 1977. The bill also requires all county boards of elections to remain open for registration at least 40 hours per week.

This part of H.B. 56 will have several good effects; equal right to vote will entail equal responsibilities in every county, a better prediction of the number of ballots to be printed will save money, pollworkers can do their job more efficiently without having to be the sole verifiers of voters' identity, and universal registration will reduce the potential for vote fraud.

However, extending maintenance of registration from two to four years without voting increases the chance for vote fraud because the names of people who die or move will be kept longer, allowing fraudulent use of their name for voting in the interim.

H.B. 56 goes back to the House for concurrence in Senate amendments, and then to the Governor. It might be vetoed because of the registration extension.

The Senate also sent back to the House for concurrence a bill to prohibit passing through the cost of emergency natural gas purchased by commercial users to residential gas consumers.

Last winter, to prevent widespread unemployment, Ohio gas companies purchased high priced natural gas on the interstate market so businesses would not have to close due to fuel curtailments. The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) and Franklin County courts ruled the cost of this higher priced gas could be partly borne by residential gas users. H.B. 1213 says that gas users in the class of customers for which natural gas is purchased must, when they exceed curtailment levels, pay for the gas. The cost cannot be shared with other kinds of gas users.

Posting of prices and complete information on drugs for sale in a pharmacy is the object of H.B. 912, passed by the House last week. H.B. 912 gives the State Pharmacy Board the power to require posting of the proprietary (brand) name and generic (common) name of drugs, their active ingredients, dosage, and cost per quantity. Pharmacies would carry such information in a loose-leaf notebook and give it over the phone on request, except for certain dangerous drugs.

The House approved H.B. 1010 establishing a $130,000 benefit fund for widows and children of law enforcement officers and fire fighters killed in the line of duty.

The spouse of police and fire fighters killed in the line of duty could receive the deceased's full monthly pay plus any automatic raises until the time the deceased would have reached retirement age. Death benefits then stop and convert to the regular public employee's pension payments. Children of the deceased may receive benefits until 18 years of age, or till 22 if a full time student.

H.B. 1010 covers fire fighters, policemen, state highway patrolmen, sheriffs and their deputies, and prison guards. About 15 such public servants die in the line of duty each year.

The House passed four criminal justice bills in rapid succession. H.B. 940 erases the juvenile arrest and court record of a delinquent or unruly child if he/she is found not guilty, or 2 years after leaving a juvenile institution or the juvenile court's jurisdiction. All persons and government bodies, except the juvenile court, must destroy such records if they are expunged or sealed by the juvenile court. H.B. 940 also tightens safeguards against wrongful transfer of juvenile arrest and hearing records.

H.B. 1193 allows persons cleared in court to have their arrest and court record wiped clean (expunged) or sealed for that offense. The bill prevents transfer of expunged records to any person or government agency, requires the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification to destroy all records they have or have transferred that were later expunged, and requires inclusion of notice of the disposition or current status of a court case if arrest records are transferred.

H.B. 1181 allows a previous criminal offender (at least 2 offenses) to apply for record expungement if no offense has been committed in 20 years. H.B. 1074 reinstates a 5-month minimum custody period for children committed to the Ohio Youth Commission. This applies where the act committed would be an offense if committed by an adult.

Woman Drowns While Wading In Deer Creek

A Paintsville, Ky., woman apparently drowned in Deer Creek off Route 56 in Madison County, just west of the Pickaway County line.

The incident occurred 4:42 a.m. Sunday while the woman and three companions were wading in the creek.

She is identified as 33-year-old Mary A. Graham.

Members of the Underwater Unit of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department, John Sanders, John Sanders Jr., Charles Raines, and Gene Cole, recovered the body about five minutes after they arrived at the scene.

Ms. Graham was apparently wading in the creek with 53-year-old Mabel Cundaff, Columbus, while Ronald Rush, 28, Columbus, and Vincel Evans Jr., 25, Columbus, had turned upstream apparently to dive into the water from the Route 56 bridge.

The women, neither of whom could swim, apparently stepped into a deep pool. Evans dove into the water and rescued Mrs. Cundaff.

The incident is still being investigated by Madison County deputies.

3 People Injured In City Crashes

Three people were injured in two accidents investigated by Circleville Police Saturday and Sunday.

Perry A. Oberly, 16, 185 Meadow Dr., suffered a large cut on his forehead when he drove his car into a power pole on Brokaw Ave., just south of the Rosewood Ave. intersection in Ted Lewis Park.

The pole was not damaged.

Ronald L. Culwell, 24, 195 W. Main St., Ashville, and Rick Wolfe, 18, 461 Watt St., a passenger on his motorcycle, were injured in an accident 12:32 a.m. Sunday on S. Washington St.

Culwell was treated at Berger Hospital for multiple lacerations, a possible neck injury, misplaced vertebrae, laceration to his right arm, and three broken teeth.

Wolfe was treated for abrasions on his right cheek, and puncture wounds and lacerations.

According to the report, Culwell was driving south on S. Washington St. and apparently lost control of the motorcycle while performing a wheel-raising maneuver at the intersection of E. Ohio St.

The motorcycle skidded 86 feet on the road and came to rest against a street sign at the Barnes Ave. intersection.

Ptl. Robert Galer, who investigated the crash, said the Circleville Emergency Medical Team transported Culwell to the hospital, where he was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Wolfe arrived at the hospital later, he said.

Stolen Cars Recovered In Fairfield

Two cars, stolen over the weekend, were recovered in Fairfield County, according to reports at the Circleville Police Department and Pickaway County Sheriff's office.

A 1967 Dodge Dart owned by Hiram C. Baughman, 130 S. Redding St., Tarlton, was stolen after 9 p.m. Saturday from in front of Baughman's house.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Larry Kellenberger spotted the car southbound on Sixteenth Road in Fairfield County, just north of Tarlton, a short time after it was taken.

He followed the vehicle to Thomas Hill Road, where it was recovered.

A car stolen from the Borden Burger parking lot after 8:15 p.m. Sunday, was recovered about 11:30 p.m. in Fairfield County.

Fairfield Deputy Gary Yarbrough recovered the car on Swope Road, west of Cedarhill Road. It was resting against a tree, off the paved surface.

The rear seat of the vehicle had been set on fire.

The car, a 1971 Chevrolet Monte Carlo, is owned by Helen H. Emerine, Route 2, Ashville.

It had apparently been driven to the restaurant by her son, Ralph, 16, who parked the car while attending a movie with friends. Ptl. Robert Galer investigated the accident for Circleville Police.

The Ohio Academy of Science announced today that five students from schools in Pickaway County received superior and excellent ratings at the 28th Annual State Science Day held at the Ohio Expositions Center, Columbus.

Attending the science day from Circleville High School was Arthur A. Whitfield who received a superior rating.

Superior ratings were also received by Emilie A. Caldwell and Phillip D. Scott of Westfall High School. James C. Gantz and Tim E. Rickabaugh, also of Westfall, received excellent ratings at the science day.

Commissioners Give $2,500 To 648 Board

Pickaway County Commissioners today approved $2,500 to fund a satellite mental health clinic at Berger Hospital.

The request for the funding was made by the South Central Ohio Mental Health and Retardation (648) board. Prior to the funding of the satellite clinic, Pickaway County residents needing its services had to travel to Chillicothe.

The 648 Board covers a five county area. Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, Donald Strous and L. Robert Liston reported the steering committee for the landfill will meet 7:30 p.m. tonight in the commissioners office.

SOLAR HEATING UNIT — A Sun Up, The Sun Furnace, distributed by The Sol-Aire Co., division of Piping Specialty Co., 911 S. Pickaway St., was installed at the 352 Meadow Lane home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kellough Thursday morning. Kellough is co-owner of the firm with Don Kellough. The units, available in three, four, or five panels, attach to the outside of the house and are connected directly with the existing duct work, furnace, and thermostat. Heat from the sun's rays are stored inside the unit and that heat is circulated into the house when called for by the thermostatic control. The unit will provide between 40 and 90 per cent of the heat required over the average nine-month heating season, Kellough said.

Broadway's Tony Awards Given

NEW YORK (AP) — The musical "A Chorus Line" and the farce-drama "Travesties" are Broadway's Tony Awards champion productions of the 1975-76 season.

Besides winning the silver medallion as the best songdance show, "A Chorus Line" scooped up eight of 11 other musical citations. Besides being named the best play, "Travesties" brought the male star acting trophy to John Wood.

Elvis Marriage Claim 'Not True'

ATHENS, Ala. (AP) — First Iladean Tribble said she would marry entertainer Elvis Presley on Saturday. Now she says she didn't, but won't tell why.

"This is the Sabbath day and I don't talk about things like this on the Lord's day," the 42-year-old widowed mother of four said Sunday when asked why the wedding hadn't taken place.

There was no comment from Presley, 41. However, a frequent Presley spokesman, Dr. George Nicholopoulos, maintained that reports of the wedding were "not true."

The police department in this north Alabama town Saturday estimated about 150 persons milled around First Baptist Church, hoping to get a glimpse of Presley after Mrs. Tribble announced Friday she would marry him.

competitive categories Sunday night in a telecast over the ABC network that overran its scheduled two-hour time slot by 29 minutes. Production numbers and long thank-you speeches were the reason.

In addition to Wood, individual acting honors in the star class went to Irene Worth, for her portrayal of an aging performer in "Sweet Bird of Youth"; and in the musical divisions to Donna McKechnie, as a striving dancer in "A Chorus Line," and to George Rose, for a roistering gig as dustman Alfred P. Doolittle in the current revival of "My Fair Lady."

The four featured performer prizes went to: Edward Herrmann in Bernard Shaw's play "Mrs. Warren's Profession"; Shirley Knight in the drama "Kennedy's Children"; and in the musical categories, to Sammy Williams and Kelly Bishop, both of "A Chorus Line."

The other Tonys for "A Chorus Line" were for its story — about young performers trying to break into the big time — by James Kirkwood and Nicholas Dante; the score, music by Marvin Hamlisch, lyrics, Edward Kleban; lighting design, Tharon Musser; director, Michael Bennett; and choreographer, Bennett and Bob Avian.

The other two musical awards went to "Pacific Overtures" for scenic design by Boris Aronson and costuming by Florenz Klotz.

Ellis Rabb took the Tony for director of a straight play with his work on "The Royal Family," a revival.

There were no real surprises in any of the voting by the 442 representatives of the theatrical profession who worked from four nominations in each category. Miss Musser had a double billing as lighting designer also of "Pacific Overtures."

Wood, Rose and Tom Stoppard, author of "Travesties," were the only Britons to win in competitive classes, a decline from the pattern of recent seasons. The Stoppard piece is a wild cerebral and linguistic romp about a hypothetical meeting in 1917 Zurich of Lenin, James Joyce and Tristan Tsara, founder of the Dada art movement.

A special new Actors Award was bestowed on a surprised Richard Burton for his return to Broadway in "Equus."

Burton was one of the program hosts, along with Eddie Albert, Jane Fonda, Diana Rigg, George C. Scott and the latter's wife, Trish Van Devere. A stellar galaxy of presenters opened the sealed envelopes containing winners' names.

George Abbott, 88-year-old veteran of 117 Broadway shows in which he has participated as an actor, author, director or producer, received the first annual Lawrence Langer prize for "distinguished lifetime achievement."

Fort Wayne Police Fight Seen Brewing

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — One of five Fort Wayne policemen suspended for alleged neglect of duty claims the disciplinary action is a "union busting" tactic of the police administration.

"We're not going to sit back and take it," said Don F. Graham, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association here.

He and four other officers — all members of the union — were suspended for five days without pay after they refused to sign their names to tickets authorizing the municipal garage attendant to supply their cars with gasoline.

Those suspended include Graham, Charles H. Estep, and James D. Gebhard, both PBA assistant stewards; Leonard F. Hutson and Paul J. Venderley, both union members.

Graham said they declined to sign the tickets to protest the suspension of a sixth officer, William D. Fremion. He was suspended last Monday after he reportedly wrote "Mickey Mouse" instead of his own name on the gasoline ticket.

The gasoline ticket policy apparently stemmed from an order issued last January by transportation director Robert Johnson, who said it was designed to tighten control over billing procedures at the garage. He added that it was not devised to harass the officers.

Sweden's King Attends Services

CHICAGO (AP) — About 400 persons lined the streets to watch King Carl XVI Gustav of Sweden arrive for Easter services at Ebenezer Lutheran Church in a northside Swedish community.

The monarch, in the midst of a 27-day visit to the United States, had arrived in Chicago on Saturday, but a sore throat forced him to cancel a news conference. A spokesman said Sunday that the king was feeling much better.

The king is scheduled to leave for Detroit on Tuesday.

Thunderstorms Rake East Texas Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms over eastern Texas today continued to prompt severe thunderstorm warnings. The storms held the threat of additional flash flooding in the already rain soaked areas of Texas.

Two infant twin boys were missing and feared drowned Sunday night after being swept from their father's grip and into raging flood waters on U.S. 59 in Goliad County in south Texas when their parents fled their flood-threatened car and tried to reach higher ground on foot.

Heavy rains caused Texas authorities to close the 23-mile stretch of U.S. 59 between Goliad and Victoria.

Skies were clear early today over the southwest, the central plateau region, the central and northern plains and most of the nation east of the Mississippi.

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered along a line running from the central Great Lakes region through Arkansas. Widely scattered showers covered the western Great Lakes, the northern Rockies to the west central plains and the southern tip of Florida.

Locally dense fog was reported forming in eastern portions of the Carolinas.

Early temperatures were generally in the 30s and 40s west of the plains states as well as over the northern and central plains. Unseasonable warmth continued to cover the Northeast where readings still are in the 60s and 70s. Temperatures are mostly in the 50s and 60s over the rest of the nation.

Temperatures across the nation at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 29 at Minot, N.D., and Flagstaff, Ariz., to 75 at Brownsville, Tex.

The forecast for today calls for rain along the Pacific northwest coast. Showers will be scattered over the central Rockies. Showers and occasional thunderstorms will be over the eastern half of Texas into southern Oklahoma, southwest Arkansas and western Louisiana. Temperatures will remain unseasonably warm through the Atlantic coast states, New England, the Appalachian Mountains, the lower Great Lakes and the Ohio Valley. It will be cooler from the southern plains through the Rockies to the Pacific Coast.

URW Talks To Resume

CLEVELAND (AP)—United Rubber Workers President Peter Bommarito says he is "sincerely hopeful" that a final round of talks opening today with the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. will produce a settlement before the union's 12:01 a.m. Wednesday strike deadline.

Talks with Firestone representatives were to start at 10 a.m., a URW spokesman said.

Bommarito said after one of a series of weekend planning sessions with URW leaders that the union was concentrating on Firestone because that firm was "in a good position to make a settlement."

"Firestone produces about 39 per cent of the tires for Ford and 20 per cent for General Motors," Bommarito added. "Some of Firestone's stockpiles are depleted."

The URW president said Firestone's production had increased after a 1975 slump and that the firm had a good earnings forecast for the second quarter of 1976.

He said the URW's 15-member advisory committee, which includes representatives of locals at all the Big Four rubber companies, had authorized a strike against all four companies if a satisfactory agreement is not reached.

Easter Assembly Held

By BONNIE HALL

The Easter assembly was held during seventh period on April 15. The assembly began with the Morning Star Gospel Review singing two numbers, "This is What Heaven Means To Me" and "I Should Have Been Crucified."

Social studies teacher, Phil Forsythe introduced the speakers, Howard Reed and Terry McDaniels, both former students of Teays Valley.

McDaniels spoke to the students on how Jesus Christ has changed his life. Now a bold person, he used to be very shy. "I remember my speech teacher couldn't get me to talk in front of 35 students, but now because I like what I'm talking about, God has given me the boldness to talk to you today. What a change Christ has made."

Reed also thinks that accepting Christ has changed his life completely. Both young men had offers to colleges on sports scholarships, but they didn't go. Reed sees that "I came to the very end of myself when I realized that I couldn't face life alone and now Christ has helped me to really have an inner goal and purpose for life."

The end of the assembly was geared to a little humor and fun. Bill Toole, posing as the Easter Bunny, came hopping through the audience throwing candy. Joe Berger, Scott Rader, Kim Ogan, and LuAnne McConaha were acting like small children wanting something special from the big bunny. When each had his own treasure, Forsythe asked if the Easter Bunny had brought him anything. To his surprise, Toole threw a pie in his face.

JIM LINTON

Bible Club Has Speaker

The Bible Club had the privilege of having Jim Linton, a sophomore at Circleville Bible College, as a guest speaker April 8.

He presented a soul winning plan and different pointers on how to successfully be a soul winner and how to improve daily living.

Linton's idea of success is as follows: S — Select a goal; U — Unlock unreleased potentials; C — Chart your course; C — Commit yourself; E — Expect problems with excitement; S — Surrender all; and S — Stand firm.

The Ervin family also presented a puppet show.

Library Gets New Books

The library has received a shipment of books from American Heritage Publishing Company. These colorfully illustrated books are now on the shelves. "The Civil War," "Country Cooking," "Artists of The Old West," "Great Architecture of The World," "The Theatrical 20's," and "The Poster in History" are all good "browsing" material.

For those of you who had Latin last year but are not taking it this year, the library has received six media kits you will want to see. They are on such things as "Greek and Roman Sports," "The Roman Republic," and "Slaves in Ancient Rome."

Ask Mrs. Edwards to show you any of these new arrivals!

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Teen Fears Growing Up To Problems

DEAR ABBY: I am nearly 13, and I have been reading your column since I was about 11. From the looks of the way married people hate each other, it makes me afraid to get married.

I don't think it would be very much fun to be a grownup because they have so many problems like getting jobs, paying taxes and the whole political mess. I don't know what I am going to do when I get out of school, but I think I'd rather just spend my whole life in school than be an adult in a world like this one. People keep talking about peace and love, and all they do is go around hurting and killing each other.

What do you think I should do?

AFRAID TO GROW UP

DEAR ABBY: Grow up anyway. We need adults who are dissatisfied with a world filled with people who say they want peace but go around hurting and killing each other. And don't decide against marriage either. My column is a trouble dump. There are plenty of good marriages, but nobody ever writes to Dear Abby to tell me how happy he is.

DEAR ABBY: Is yawning a sign of physical fatigue? Or is it a sign of boredom?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: It can be either or both. It's usually an involuntary opening of the mouth when you wish others would shut theirs.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the distressed parents who was shocked at her daughter's "dishonesty and bad taste" in choosing to wear a white wedding gown when everybody knew she was no virgin provoked me into writing this.

My daughter is divorced, over 30 and no virgin either, but she is planning to be married soon, and she has chosen to wear a white gown. In fact, I am knitting it for her now, and I couldn't be happier.

I don't feel that my daughter is declaring herself a virgin by wearing

Live Cattle Imports Rise Over Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imports of live cattle from Canada and Mexico have soared recently, another indication that many U.S. farmers and feedlot operators are becoming increasingly confident that the long-depressed beef market is making a comeback, according to the Agriculture Department.

During February, according to USDA figures, cattle imports totaled 52,135 head, a seven-fold increase from the same month last year when 7,272 head were imported.

One official said there is "no reason to hit the panic button" about the jump in cattle imports. In the past, those totaled around one million head a year before dropping to 568,000 in 1974 and to 389,000 last year, making the 1975 total the smallest in nearly 30 years.

When cattle prices were depressed in relation to feed costs in 1974-75, feedlots reduced inventories sharply. Thus, since most of the imported cattle from Mexico and Canada are "feeder" types, the feedlot demand for animals declined.

But, with the big corn crop last fall, along with forecasts for improved profit margins for feedlot cattle in the coming months, the surge in imports was expected. Officials said, however, that, even if the recent pace continued, it was unlikely that total 1976 imports would match the one million head of previous years.

Student Regulations Readied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Between now and next fall, boards of education throughout Ohio are being required to draw up specific codes of conduct outlining reasons for which students can be removed, suspended, or expelled.

The requirement came down from the legislature this year after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that students, just like everyone else, are entitled to due process—specifically the right to some kind of formal hearing before being disciplined.

Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, guided the bill through the legislative process during a period of more than 13 months, finally emerging with a compromise measure with broad support from the interested parties.

Signed by Gov. James A. Rhodes last March, it becomes part of Ohio's statutes June 4, but school boards are being given until the first of September to adopt their conduct codes.

The Ohio Association of Secondary School Principals—high schools are likely to be most affected by the new law—has advised its members of the procedural requirements that are mandated for each of the three types of disciplinary actions. These include:

—Suspensions: Only a principal or superintendent may suspend. The maximum suspension is 10 days. They must give reasons to the pupil in writing, and the pupil must be given an opportunity to appear at an informal hearing to challenge the reasons. Parents must be notified of suspensions, within 24 hours, including the reason, and of their right of appeal to the board of education.

—Removals: A superintendent, principal, or assistant principal may, if a student's presence poses "a continuing danger" to persons or property, remove a student from the premises, curricular, or extra-curricular activity.

A teacher has the right of emergency removals from his or her classroom, but must immediately notify the principal of reasons for doing so. A due process hearing on removals must occur within 24 hours, and persons who requested or ordered the removal must be present. In an emergency removal, a pupil can be kept from class until the matter is disposed of either by reinstatement, suspension, or expulsion.

—Expulsion: The right to expel is left solely in the hands of superintendents. The same prior notice and hearings are required, except that hearing must be no less than three days and no more than five days after notice is given.

Parents or guardians must be advised in writing of the reasons for expulsion, advised of their right to appeal to the board of education, and given a closed hearing if requested.

Tigers Split Pair With Eagles

Circleville and Madison Plains split a double-header Saturday by identical scores of 3-1 on the Tigers' field.

The Tigers won the first game behind the four-hit pitching of Biff Bumgarner who only issued two passes while fanning 10.

Sullivan went all the way for Madison Plains to take the loss. He gave up six hits, struck out seven and didn't give up a base on balls.

Circleville put the game on ice in the first inning when the Tigers scored all three runs and then gained the win on the fine pitching performance of Bumgarner.

Jerry Strawser led off in the inning with a single, Brent Mancini reached on a fielders choice, Keith Sanders rapped a single, Doug McGlone got his pitch and slammed a long triple and Brad Allison followed with a sharp single to send McGlone home with the final tally of the inning.

The Golden Eagles tallied an unearned run in the top of the fifth frame.

McGlone and Gary Combs both belted a triple for Circleville while Strawser, Bumgarner, Sanders and Allison each had a single.

G. Bartee, Countryman, Sanders and Eitel all had a single for Madison Plains.

This game was a league contest while the second game was a non league affair.

Reynolds came up with a good pitching effort for Madison Plains in the second contest as he scattered four hits, fanned six and didn't issue a walk. The Eagles hurlers turned in a rare feat for the afternoon as they failed to issue a single base on balls in the double-header.

Brent Mancini went six innings for Circleville and took the loss. He gave up six hits, struck out three and didn't yield a free stroll. Brian Fath came on to hurl the final inning for the Tigers. He was touched for two hits and didn't have a strikeout or walk.

The Golden Eagles tallied a pair of runs in the top of the fourth inning and added a clincher in the seventh.

Circleville's lone tally came in the bottom of the fourth inning.

Brent Mancini led the Tigers with two singles while Keith Sanders and Doug McGlone each had a one-bagger.

Hanasik belted a triple for the Eagles, Saunders slammed a double and single while G. Bartee, C. Bartee, Countryman, Reynolds and Eitel each rapped a single.

"Our pitching is finally coming around as Biff, Brent and Brian all hurled well," coach Tom Cole stated. "We should have shown more offense in the second game because our pitching wasn't bad."

Circleville is now 5-4 overall and 4-2 in the South Central Ohio League. The Tigers will be at Westfall Tuesday, host Hillsboro Wednesday and will be at home with Miami Trace Friday.

NO PLACE TO GO — A Madison Plains baserunner applies the brakes as he sees Circleville third baseman Biff Bumgarner waiting with the ball. Circleville and Madison Plains split a doubleheader Saturday on the Tiger's diamond. Both games were decided by identical 3-1 scores.

Don January Wins Golf Tourney

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — His aging bones were growing wearier from the stresses of a sport dominated by younger men. Don January sat for awhile and thought he'd pass us the Tournament of Champions.

"I'd played a lot this year, eight weeks out of nine," said the 46-year-old self-styled elder statesman of the pro golf tour. "I was kinda tired and I wasn't too hot about playing."

But the challenge — and the money, definitely the money — of the prestigious $225,000 event made the old pro reconsider.

"Last week at the Masters I decided it was silly. Here I am playing golf for a living and they're putting up a $225,000 pot for only 22 fellows to shoot at, and I can get $4,347 even if I'm last."

From the first swing of his driver on the La Costa Country Club course, last place was never a threat to the slow-moving, easy-going Texas native. He built a five-stroke lead through three rounds, easily survived a front-nine threat from young Ben Crenshaw, and completed one of sport's most unusual comebacks Sunday with a front-running five-stroke victory for the $45,000 first prize.

January grinned.

"I'm right glad I decided to play,"

Lawhorn Named Trumbull County Coach Of The Year

John Lawhorn, Warren Western Reserve head basketball coach, has been named Trumbull County Basketball Coach of the Year.

Trumbull County has 5-AAA, 10-AA and 8-A schools. Warren Western Reserve is a member of the Big 8 League which includes Massillon, Niles McKinley, East Liverpool, Barberton, Salem, Alliance and Warren Harding.

Western Reserve finished second in the league to state champions Barberton, and finished the year with a record of 15-5 in Lawhorn's first year as head coach.

Coach Lawhorn had coached at Circleville the past 6 years, where he was voted AA Coach of the Year by Associated Press in 1975 after Circleville finished the year 22-1 and AA AP State Champions. Lawhorn has a 14 year coaching record of 198-83.

he said with that characteristic drawl after becoming the oldest tour winner since 1968, when 48-year-old Julius Boros won the Westchester Classic.

Sunday he reaped the profits, carding a final-round 69 for a 277 total, 11 under par and five strokes better than Hubert Green over the windswept, 6,855-yard, par-72 layout.

The prize boosted his winnings to $95,706 — by far the best of his two-decade career. He did it with rounds of 71, 68, 69 and 69 in picking up his 12th career title and second in this event which he also won in 1968.

Only Crenshaw and Bruce Crampton threatened the old man in a final round which became simply a battle for second place after January birdied the 15th hole with a putt of some 25 feet to take a threestroke lead with three holes to play.

Holman Wins Bowling Tilt

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "All I was thinking of was to make sure my hands were dry, then throw a good shot, get it in there," said Marshall Holman, recounting the final frame of the game that gave him the Tournament of Champions bowling title.

"I yanked the ball and it hit heavy on the headpin and I got a break when only the four-seven stayed up," said Holman, who needed only a share to defeat veteran Billy Hardwick and claim the $25,000 first prize Saturday.

The 21-year-old Holman, of Medford, Ore., picked up the four-seven to become the youngest player ever to win the prestigious $125,000 Professional Bowlers Association tournament and only the second bowler to accomplish the feat on his first attempt.

The top prize increased Holman's 1976 earnings to $36,615, third highest on the PBA tour. Second place money of $14,000 gave Hardwick, of Louisville, Ky., total earnings of $33,000.

Indianapolis Racers Turn Back Whalers

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indianapolis Coach Jacques Demers has a word for rookie goalie Jim Park's performance in the Racers' 4-0 victory over the New England Whalers Saturday night: "super-sensational."

"It was one of the finest jobs I've seen this year in the WHA nets," Demers said.

The Racers triumph evened the World Hockey Association playoff best-of-seven series at one apiece.

Montreal Canadiens Win Hockey Playoffs

CHICAGO (AP) — One thing you can say for the Montreal Canadiens is that they don't kick a guy when he's down.

The Canadiens wiped out the Chicago Black Hawks in four straight games in their best-of-seven quarter-final playoffs with a 4-1 triumph in the only Sunday game in the National Hockey League.

Giants Trim Cincy, 5-1

CINCINNATI (AP)—What? A modest streak in John (The Count) Montefusco? Well, sort of.

"I just wanted to make it through the second inning. I've never done that against this club," said the San Francisco Giants pitcher Sunday after teaming up with Gary Lavelle to five-hit the Cincinnati Reds for a 5-1 victory.

Once he weathered the second, the brashness was back.

"I want to make the All-Star team so I had to show Sparky Anderson I'm worthy," said Montefusco, whose braggadoccio took the National League by storm last year.

He stirred up the natives at Riverfront Stadium last July when he predicted he would shutout the Reds and strike out slugger Johnny Bench four straight times.

It proved to be a lesson in humility. Bench walloped a mammoth home run and the Reds scored seven runs in two innings to rout Montefusco. But not before he tipped his hat to the crowd of 50,000.

But Sunday was a different story. "All I heard for the last three days was how many times was I going to strike out Bench. I wasn't making any predictions. I wanted the shutout—but quietly this time," said Montefusco, who earned rookie of the year pitching honors in the National League with a 15-9 record.

Montefusco said he settled down after an early flare of tempers between he and catcher Dave Rader. "He was pushing me and pushing me. I finally blew my top. It was the best thing for me. I was upset when they scored the run," he said.

Montefusco, now 2-1, drove in a run with a sacrifice fly and added a double as the Giants won two of the three games against the defending world champions.

"That guy is known as a character," said Manager Bill Rigney. "The word is right, but the usage is wrong. He has character."

Joe Morgan, who took a .500 batting average into the game and was held hitless, saluted Montefusco as "a competitor," but begrudgingly added, "I don't think he pitched well enough to hold us to one run."

Andy Messersmith came back to pitch against the Los Angeles Dodgers ... but it was Jimmy Wynn who came back to haunt them.

Messersmith, the celebrated free agent who jumped the Los Angeles ship and signed a million-dollar contract with the Atlanta Braves, made his 1976 pitching debut against his former teammates Sunday.

The right-hander, who wasted all of spring training trying to hook on with a team, was only used for four innings against the Dodgers and wasn't especially impressive.

But while Messersmith was having control trouble, Wynn — another former Dodger — walloped a three-run homer to help the Braves beat Los Angeles 7-6.

"I'm glad it's over, I'll tell you that," said Messersmith, who gave up three walks and three hits in his brief appearance. "I was nervous at first and I felt fluid only in the last inning. I felt pressure from not having pitched for so long."

Messersmith had hoped to pitch longer than just four innings and let Atlanta Manager Dave Bristol know about it. "I'm a bull," Messersmith told the manager when informed that he was leaving the game early.

"I'm the last guy in the world that wanted to take him out of a ballgame," said Bristol. "But we plan to have him a lot longer than just Easter Sunday."

In the other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the New York Mets 7-5, the San Francisco Giants stopped the Cincinnati Reds 5-1, the Philadelphia Phillies turned back the Chicago Cubs 8-5, the St. Louis Cardinals tripped the Montreal Expos 2-1 and the Houston Astros beat the San Diego Padres 4-2 in the first game of a doubleheader before dropping an 11-5 decision in the nightcap.

Pirates 7, Mets 5
Willie Stargell, starting pitcher Jerry Reuss and Rennie Stennett contributed run-scoring doubles in a six-run Pittsburgh fourth and the Pirates went on to beat the Mets. Reuss needed relief help from Ramon Hernandez in the ninth after New York's Dave Kingman smashed a three-run homer in the eighth. It was his second of the game and seventh of the season, high in the major leagues.

Phillies 8, Cubs 5
Mike Schmidt hit his fifth homer in two games and pitcher Larry Christenson and catcher Bob Boone each doubled home two runs, leading Philadelphia over Chicago. Schmidt, who became the first National Leaguer in modern history to hit four successive homers when he did it in his last four at-bats Saturday, struck out and fouled out twice Sunday before unloading a two-run homer in the seventh inning.

Cardinals 2, Expos 1
John Denny threw a no-hitter for six innings but needed Mike Wallace's last-out relief help in St. Louis' victory over Montreal. The 23-year old Denny set down the first 18 batters he faced and protected a no-hit bid until Larry Bittner beat out a slow roller down the first base line in the seventh inning.

Mike Jorgensen followed with a one-out double. But Montreal failed to score against the 6-foot-3 right-hander, who gave up six hits, until Jorgensen hit his second homer of the season with one out in the ninth inning.

Astros 4-5, Padres 2-11
Cesar Cedeno's homer highlighted a four-run Houston eighth that carried the Astros past San Diego in the opener of their doubleheader. Willie McCovey knocked in four runs to help San Diego left-hander Randy Jones win his third straight game in the nightcap.

76ers, Bucks Eliminated

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Remember the home-court advantage, that much-ballyhooed edge for which various National Basketball Association teams scratched and clawed at each other through the final weeks of the regular season?

Well, the Philadelphia 76ers and Milwaukee Bucks will have all summer to try and find out where it went.

Both teams were eliminated from the NBA playoffs Sunday in the type of games in which the home-court advantage is supposed to be most prominent — close, hard-fought, pressure-packed contests, where everything is on the line. Both were playing before enthusiastic crowds at their home arenas — and both were beaten.

The Buffalo Braves, trailing by as many as 11 points in the third period, nipped Philadelphia 124-123 in overtime; the Detroit Pistons, whose 36-46 regular season record equals the worst of any team ever to reach the NBA playoffs, edged Milwaukee 107-104.

Both were the deciding games of best-of-three preliminary round series, and the survivors are now matched against the top clubs in the two conferences. Detroit opens its best-of-seven series against the defending NBA champion Golden State Warriors in Oakland Tuesday and Buffalo begins play against the Boston Celtics in Boston Wednesday.

In the only other NBA playoff game Sunday, the Phoenix Suns beat the Seattle SuperSonics 103-91 to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven quarter-final series.

Fight Mars Nets Win

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The New York Nets won more than just the fourth game of their American Basketball Association playoff series against the Spurs Sunday.

They won the fight, said San Antonio Coach Bob Bass.

In both locker rooms after the game, talk centered more on the second period fight which emptied both benches than on the game, won by the Nets 110-108, which evened the series 2-2.

San Antonio's George Karl squared off against New York's Brian Taylor in the main event.

"Taylor just hit the hell out of Karl," said Bass, who several times has complained the games in this playoff series are too physical. "We lost the fight, too."

Police, coaches and referees eventually cleared the floor.

The best-of-seven semifinal series resumes tonight in Uniondale, N.Y. The other semifinal set, between Denver and Kentucky, resumes tonight in Louisville, with the clubs tied 1-1.

International Representation Assured For Muirfield Event

Strong international representation is assured for the already star-studded field entered in the Memorial Tournament May 24-30, with the acquisition of top players from Japan, Australia and Mexico.

Acceptances of invitations to four prominent foreign players were disclosed by the Captain's Club, a group of distinguished golfing statesmen invited by Jack Nicklaus to advise on the format and conduct of the Memorial Tournament, in addition to selection of certain golfers.

The first four foreign players to accept invitations were:

Takashi Murakami, 31, of Kanagawa-Ken, Japan; winner of numerous titles last year including the Japan Open and Japan PGA along with the Japanese circuit championship; Bob Shearer, 27, of Melbourne, Australia; winner of the 1974-75 Australian circuit; runner-up in British Order of Merit and World Cup individual honors; Jack Newton, 26, of Sydney, Australia, runner-up in last year's British Open, losing playoff to Tom Watson; former winner of British Match Play and 11 other world titles; Ernesto Perez, 29, of Mexico City, winner of seven championships last year including Mexican PGA, Mexican Masters and Mexican Tournament of Champions; lost by one stroke to Lee Trevino in '75 Mexican Open, which he previously won.

Other prominent foreign players are being contacted while entries from the American PGA tour keep arriving at headquarters in Dublin, Ohio.

The top 7 finishers at the Masters, including newly-crowned champion Raymond Floyd, will all be at the Memorial Tournament. They are runner-up Ben Crenshaw; Larry Ziegler and Jack Nicklaus, who tied for third; fifth place finisher Hale Irwin; and, Tom Kite and Charles Coody, who shared sixth spot.

Two leading veterans and one of the roaring "young lions" are among the latest entries in The Memorial Tournament.

Golf's latest millionaire, Miller Barber, often called "the Mysterious Mr. X" by his fellow pros, accepted his invitation this past week. Barber, with nine tour victories, dating back to 1964, is presently No. 17 on the 1976 money list at $44,306. His career earnings topped the $1 million mark earlier this year.

Long hitting Rod Fenseth also confirmed his entry this week. Fenseth, a winner at Phoenix in 1965 and Los Angeles in 1973, qualified for the Memorial by finishing 49th on the 1975 chart with $48,453. He is presently in the 65th position with $12,358 for 1976.

Also confirming within the past few days was Mark Hayes, one of the most talented young players in the game. Hayes has yet to win a tournament, but he has threatened often since the first of the year. Currently, he is 12th in the listing with $52,661.

A total of 76 players have qualified for invitations, and 30 more will hear their way into the Memorial via the "Player Point Listing" after the Colonial Invitational on May 16.

Executive Director Bob Murphy announces that "Patron Sales will go over budget projections this week." Because of printing deadlines and the logistics of ticket distribution, those considering Patron Packages should call the Tournament Office immediately (614) 889-9467.

All "Auxiliaries" of the Children's Hospital have ticket applications. Just as has been the case through a ten year history of Columbus Pro Ams, the Children's Hospital will share in the proceeds of the Memorial Tournament.

Stan Musial batted .356 against the Brooklyn Dodgers in Ebbets Field.

Seven former Brooklyn Dodger catchers managed major league teams.

Judy Rankin Posts LPGA Tourney Win

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Judy Rankin scored a powerful victory in the $80,000 Phoenix Ladies Professional Golf Tournament with a three-under-par 69 on the final round and 205 total for 54 holes, the lowest score so far on the tour.

She took home a check for $14,000. Sandra Post won $8,500 for second place with a closing three-under-par 69 and a total of 212.

Third-place finisher Marlene Hagge ended with the best round of the tournament, a six-under-par 66, including seven birdies and just one bogey, that coming on the final hole. She finished at 213.

Sandra Haynie was alone in fourth place with a two-under-par 214, while tied for fifth at 215 were Jan Stephenson and Carol Mann.

"I was nervous as I teed off but a birdie on No. 2 really helped settle me down," Mrs. Rankin said. "Sandra Post's birdies on the front side kept me a little nervous but I knew I just had to not falter.

"Once I won a tournament from seven shots off the pace."

Only six golfers could break par on the 6,142-yard McCormick Ranch Palms Course.

Mrs. Rankin was four under par after 18 holes for a twostroke lead, and dipped another four under par to boost her lead to six strokes at the end of 36 holes. Then came the clincher for an 11-under-par finish.

Bright sunshine and temperatures near 80 degrees graced the final round, in sharp contrast to thunderstorms which curtailed Wednesday's pro-am round and delayed the opening from Thursday to Friday. Soggy conditions forced the tournament from nearby Camelback Country Club to McCormick Ranch.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

America's need for a stronger national defense was overwhelmingly endorsed by the House of Representatives last week when it passed a $33.4 billion arms authorization bill for the coming fiscal year.

The bill, approved by a 298-to-52 vote margin, provides for the procurement of major weapons systems, plus all military research and development. It also authorizes increases in Active and Reserve military personnel strengths.

Almost 30 per cent higher than the Fiscal Year 1976 authorization, the House bill provides about $23 billion for purchase of weapons and related equipment and $10.4 billion for research and development, testing and evaluation.

Although U.S. defense dollar expenditures have gradually increased in almost every recent year, inflation has actually reduced the budget's buying power, so that this year's budget will purchase 40 per cent less goods and services than the 1968 defense budget.

Apparently many Congressional eyes are finally opening to the massive expansion in Soviet military capacity—and the steady deterioration of our own.

Amendments aimed at reducing various arms programs were soundly beaten. They included attempts to delay production of the B-1 strategic bomber and to hold up money for a nuclear-powered aircraft carrier. The House also rejected attempts to cut back submarine construction, ban testing of advanced missile warheads and reduce our forces overseas by 47,000 men.

In recent years, Congress has allowed the defense budget to shrink to one-quarter of all federal spending. Only 15 years ago, it represented one-half. The real growth in government spending has been in the non-defense area.

The Soviet Union spends the equivalent of about $60 billion a year for weapons development and purchase. That is roughly what we spent nine years ago. While the Soviets have boosted their weapons expenditures, ours have dropped to under $35 billion last year.

The Russians' increased concentration and our slackening on weaponry and manpower have led to Soviet leads in many aspects of naval power, total military forces, and in numbers of missiles. And the Soviet buildup continues, detente and the SALT agreement notwithstanding.

After 200 years of surviving wars and other world crises, it seems incredible that our nation would slip from overwhelming military superiority to what many are calling "rough equivalence" today.

In other words, while America has fallen behind in some areas, we still hold enough of a margin of superiority in others to keep us in a position of approximate military parity with the Soviet Union. Unless current trends are reversed, we could be in a position of inferiority.

The American soldier has always had the advantage of superior weaponry, and weaponry is what the military procurement authorization bill is all about.

We face Soviet advances in the quality of military machinery and technology, as well as quantity. The Soviets are rapidly closing the "quality gap". And even if they were not stressing quality, there is a point at which superior quality can be overcome with sheer numbers.

Those weapons systems which proved invaluable to the American fighting man in the past two decades will be no match in the 1980's for the sophisticated weaponry being developed by the Soviet Union.

Certainly there is room for criticism of past management practices in the development and procurement of major weapons systems, and we should work to improve the system. However, we cannot let anything obscure our view of the reality of Soviet military expansion.

We have to sensibly and realistically evaluate what is necessary to maintain adequate deterrence against that threat.

The real cost of defense, like the real cost of everything else in our society, is going up. We must spend every defense dollar with maximum efficiency and to produce maximum benefits, but it would be perilous indeed to cut corners with our national survival.

SCOPS Open House Set During Annual Dogwood Festival

The South Central Ohio Preservation Society with headquarters in the General Moore House, Piketon, announced that its offices will be open to the public during the three days of the Dogwood Festival Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The preservation office of the society, directed by David Brook, will have forms and instructions available to those interested in listing their homes or buildings on the national register of historic places or on the Ohio State Inventory. Mrs. Joseph Vanmeter, SCOPS coordinator and Ohio Advisor for the National Trust for Historic Preservation, and Mrs. Thomas Williams, chairman of the Pickle County Ohio Inventor and National Register Task Force, will be present to explain the purposes of the inventory and answer questions concerning the inventory forms.

The preservation office of SCOPS has received statewide attention as being the largest office territorially in Ohio and first office to successfully conduct the Ohio Inventory with volunteer task forces. More than 150 volunteers trained in research, architectural history and description and photographic techniques are currently working in a 20-county area of southern Ohio.

The Ohio Inventory is being conducted by the Ohio Historical Society in cooperation with sponsoring historical societies and colleges across the state. Ohio now has four regional preservation offices in Cleveland, Dayton, Cincinnati and Piketon. New offices are being located in Toledo, Tiffin and Kent. The results of the Ohio Inventory will be used in Long Range planning by state agencies. It will also enable communities in South Central Ohio to assess their historic resources for purposes of economic development through tourism.

GOOD NUTRITION.....

OUR BUSINESS AND YOURS

Eat the basic 4 foods every day.

The American Dietetic Association annually sponsors National Nutrition Week to call attention to this important subject. But good nutrition is everybody's business, every day of the year. Your Kroger supermarket contains up to 15,000 items for your choice. How you use your food shopping dollar is up to you. For good nutrition, plan your week's menu around the Basic Four Food Groups. Include in your daily diet:

- Meat Group. Two or more 3-oz. servings cooked, lean meat, fish or poultry; eggs (2 = 1 serving); cooked dry beans (1 cup) or peanut butter (1/2 cup).
- Vegetable and Fruit Group. Four 1/2 cup servings per person, including a citrus fruit or other source of Vitamin C (such as strawberries, tomatoes or broccoli). At least every other day, include dark green or deep-yellow vegetable for Vitamin A.
- Milk Group. Two or more cups for adults, or the equivalent in cheese or other milk product (1 1/2 cup milk = 1/2 cup cottage cheese or ice cream; 1 slice (1 1/2 oz.) cheddar cheese = about 1/2 cup milk).
- Bread and Cereal Group. Four or more servings. One serving = 1 slice enriched or whole grain bread; 1 oz. (standard bowlful) ready-to-eat cereal; 1/2 to 3/4 cup cooked cereal, cornmeal, grits, noodles, spaghetti or rice.
